

New York, NY ■ Washington, DC ■ San Francisco, CA

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
January 27, 2009

Contact: Ed Lamoureaux
212.704.9111

WESTGLEN COMMUNICATIONS APPOINTS DARREN NICOL AS U.S. ACCOUNT DIRECTOR

NEW YORK, January 27, 2009 – West Glen Communications, Inc. (WestGlen), a broadcast and Internet public relations consultancy and production company, announced that seasoned marketer and media expert Darren Nicol has joined the company as an Account Director in their New York office.

"Darren will be responsible for new business development throughout the U.S. working with PR agencies, corporations and non-profit organizations," Senior Vice President Ed Lamoureaux said. "Darren has a reputation as a strong marketing and PR strategist having worked with key broadcast, print and online media in the U.S. and globally on behalf of such organizations as Microsoft, Google, UNICEF and U.S. Department of State. We are thrilled that his deep media relations and account management experience will now benefit WestGlen and its clients."

Prior to joining WestGlen, Nicol was Manager, Media - U.S/North America, at The NewsMarket, a web-based video marketing and distribution platform. Based in their New York headquarters, Nicol led the media team pitching stories and multimedia content to media. He worked closely with the client account team in the development of story ideas and media distribution. He also worked with the business development team to prospect new clients across a variety of sectors including technology, healthcare, government, non-profit and consumer.

Originally from Brisbane, Australia, Nicol has spent the past 9 years working in New York and London. He has extensive media and account services experience having previously worked for News Corporation, Random House, Reed Elsevier and an Australian national television network – Network Ten.

Nicol has a Bachelor of Business in Communications majoring in Journalism from the Queensland University of Technology in Brisbane, Australia.

About West Glen Communications, Inc.:

West Glen Communications, Inc. is a leading provider of broadcast PR programs through the production, distribution and placement of video news releases, radio and television satellite media tours, web casts and public service announcements: The company provides a strategic counsel and services to public relations agencies, corporations, trade associations, government agencies and non-profit organizations. Headquartered in New York City, WestGlen has regional offices in Chicago, San Francisco and Washington, DC. Its website is located at www.WestGlen.com.

###